Thank God
that memories don't change*

I remember going into the five-and-ten and looking at pinwheels and fake make-up kits.

I remember reading campaign posters in the summer heat and maybe drawing a mustache on one of the politicians.

I remember wanting to love you, but not being able to bring myself to look into your face.

I remember skinny girls with braces on their teeth and baby-doll shoes.

I remember wanting to live in the shoe with the old lady.

I remember yelling if you could come out to play.

I remember sailing straight into the air, holding onto a bunch of different colored balloons.

I remember staying with my dog while she died.

I remember the day John F. Kennedy died.

One potato, two potato, three potatoes more.

I remember trying to catch the falling raindrops in my mouth.

I remember sneezing as I lay down, so that the sneeze would sprinkle on my face.

I remember laughing because I saw an old lady fall down in the snow.

For everything, turn, turn, turn.

There is a season, turn, turn, turn.

I remember deciding that cloud nine wasn't so great.

I remember looking at "before and after" pictures of girls in magazines and realizing that the "before" pictures always looked better.

I remember smelling rotten eggs in an alley.

I remember finally being able to look into your face, only to find that you had gone.

I remember looking up words in Webster's dictionary.

I remember cutting classes so that I could get away from phony girls who gave phony boys a wink or two.

I remember bringing back signed report cards.

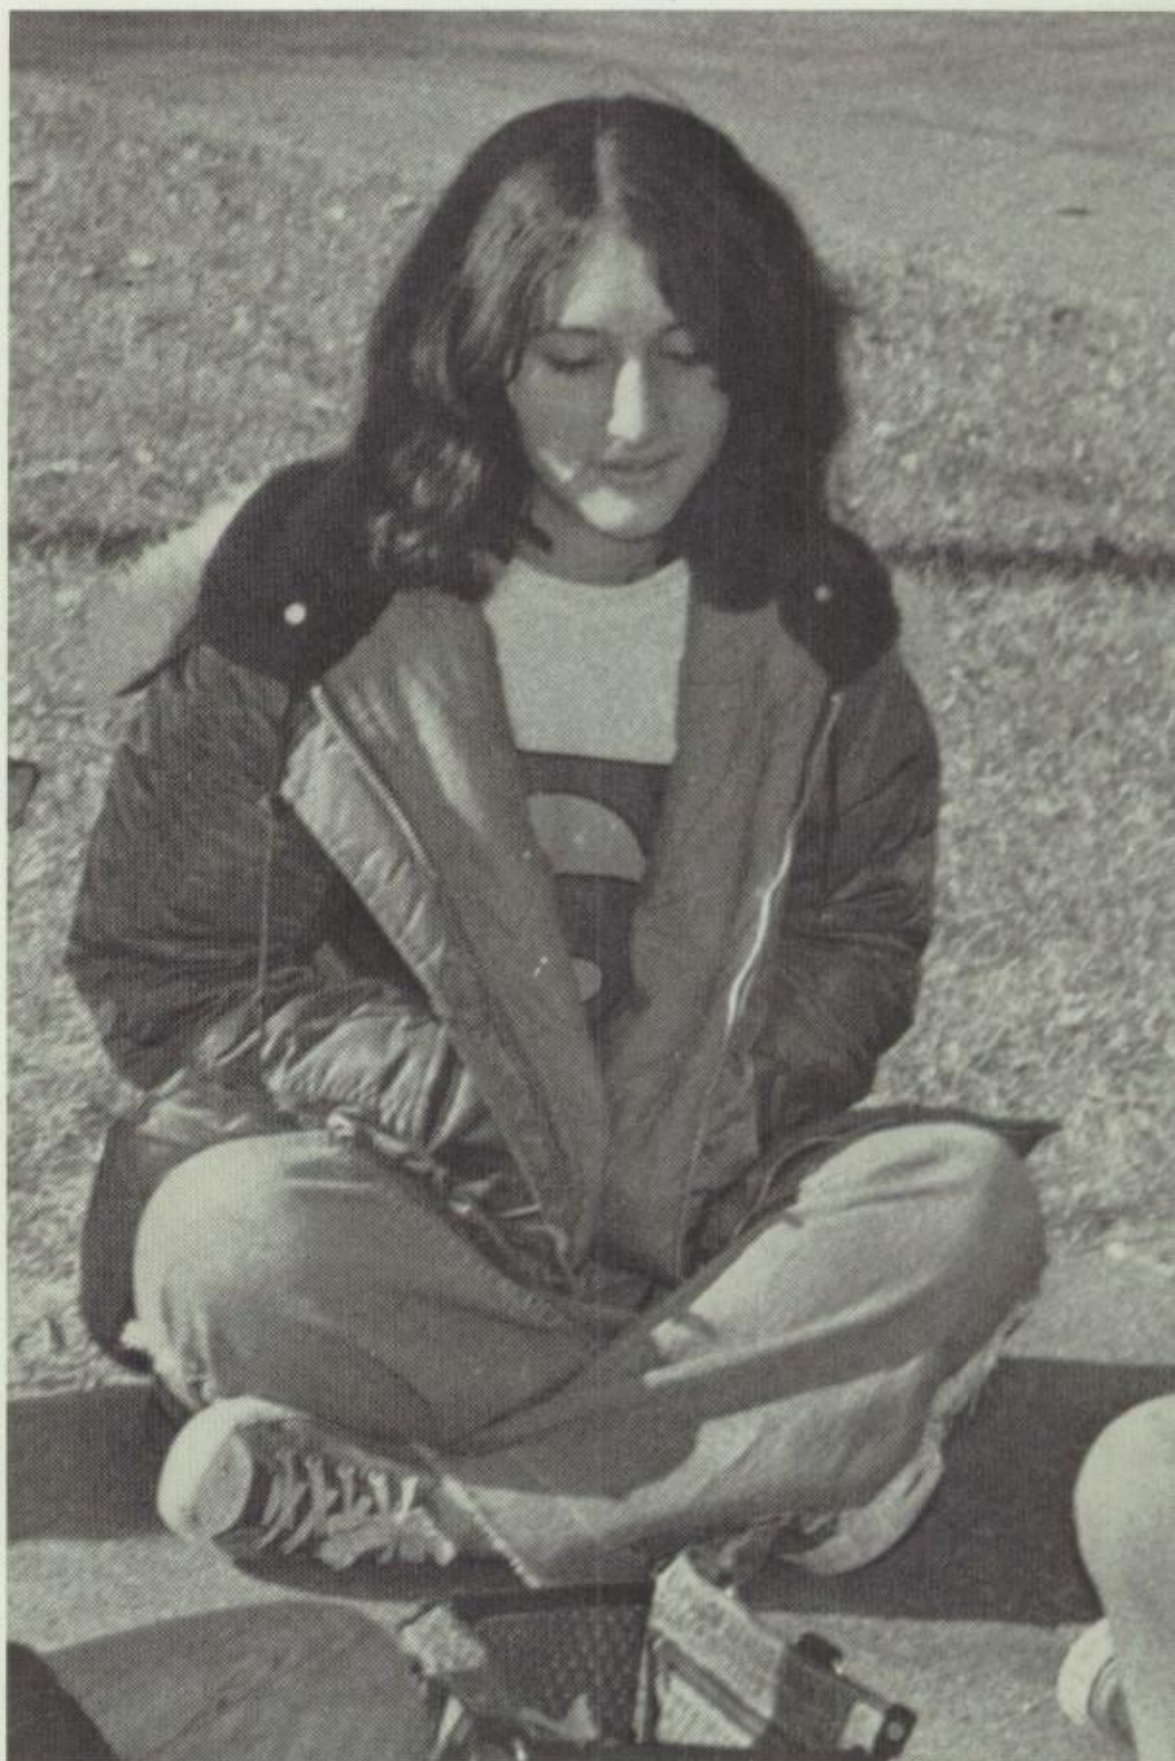

I remember blowing up so many balloons that I could hardly breathe.

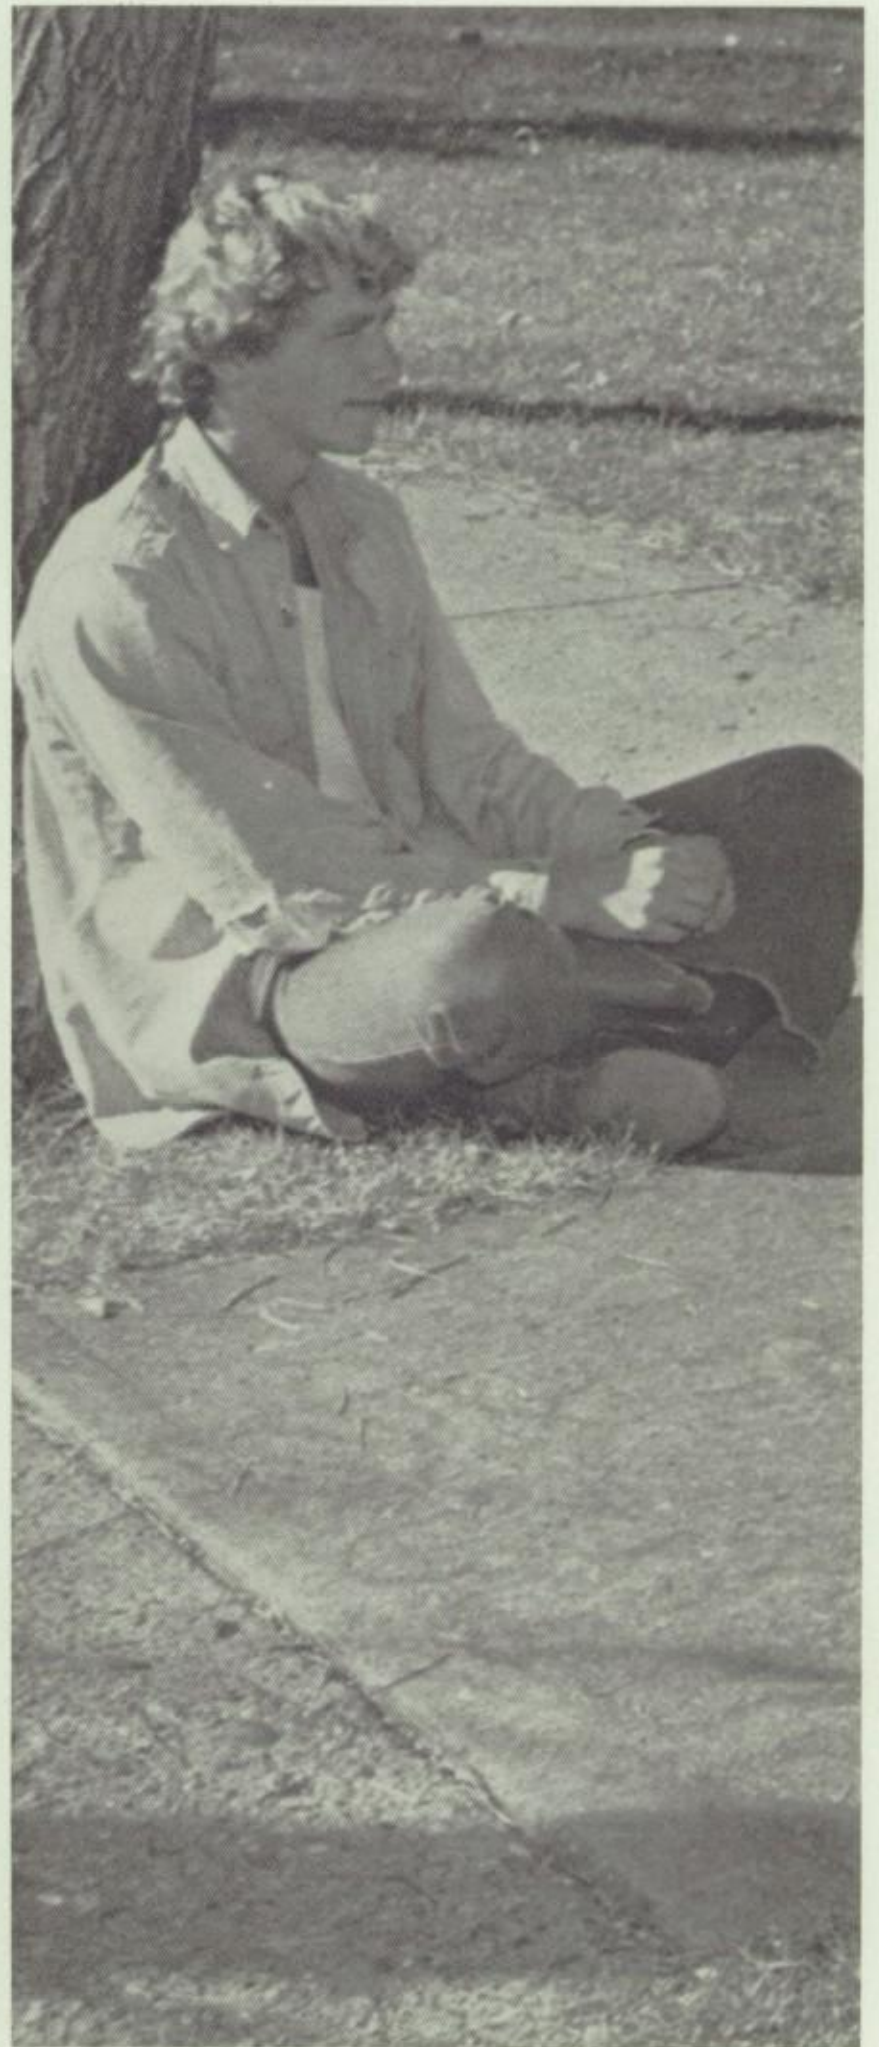

I remember rolling down grassy hills.

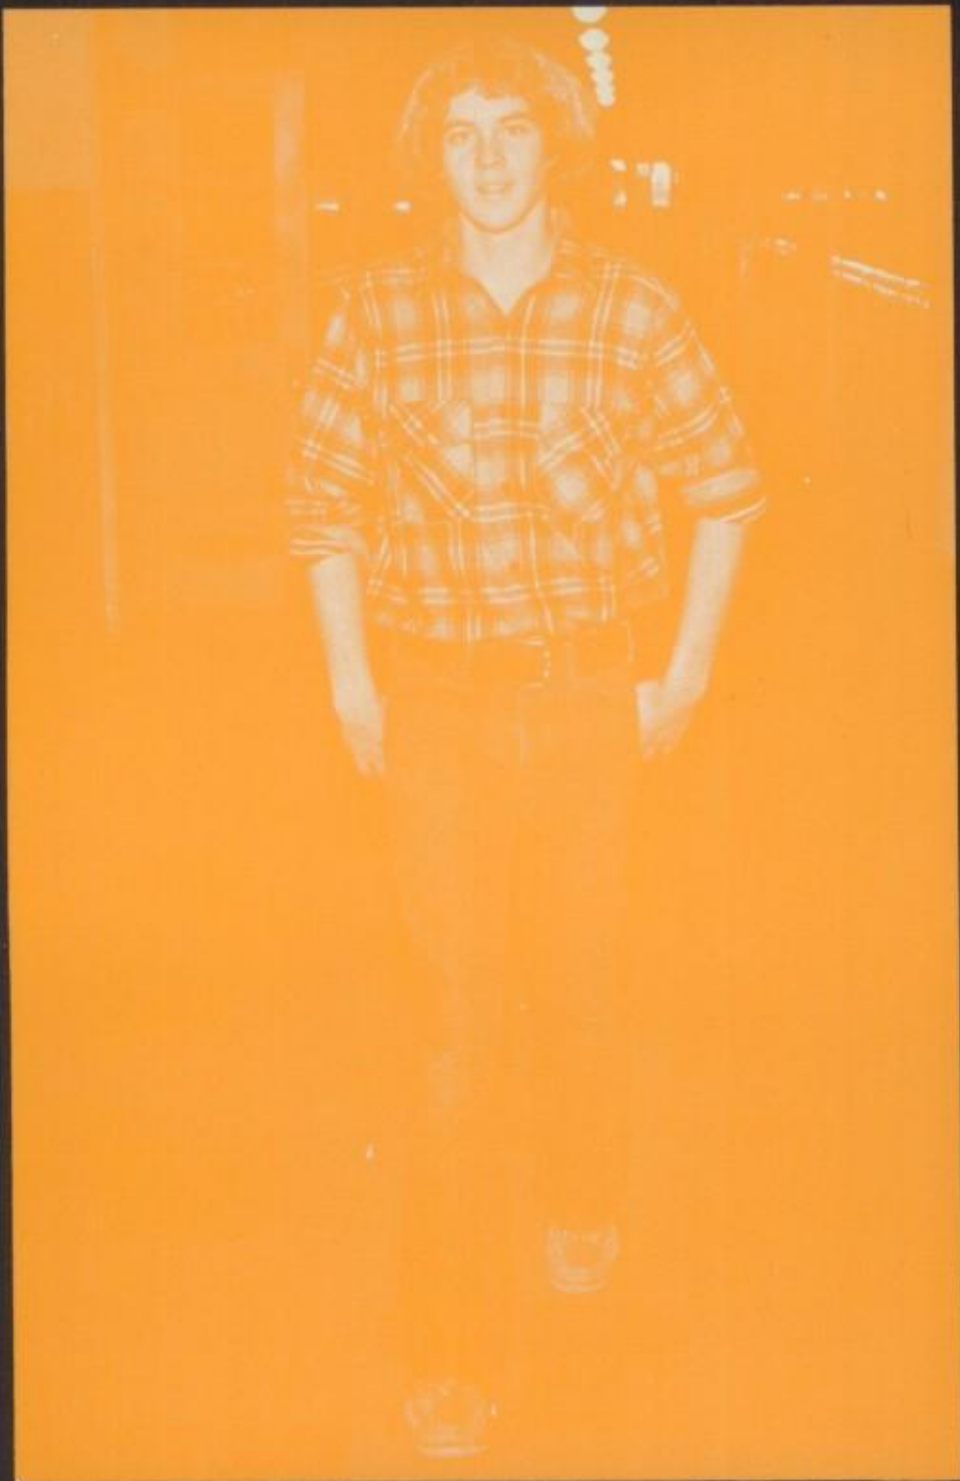

You're darn tootin'

I like fig newtons.

West Fargo High School

I remember screaming madly at the Beatles.

I remember being given angle one equals angle two.

I remember failing my first math test.

I remember trying to convince the lady at the movie ticket box that I was under twelve.

I remember wondering how it was possible for Jesus to sweat blood.

I remember watching mobiles turn slowly in the sky.

I remember neon lights flashing on and off in the pouring rain.

I remember making up plays in my mind and trying to cast people on the streets for parts.

To be or not to be - that is the question.

I remember two o'clock in the morning.

I remember tracing your face with my fingers.

I remember pigeons in the park.

I remember my short fat legs growing into tall fat legs.

I remember wanting to be so tall that my head would get lost in the stars.

I remember the night when there were no stars.

Hello, hello, good-bye, hello.

I remember quickly turning my head when the loud noises boomed forth.

I remember airplanes flying so close to the ground.

I remember people running wildy around, as ambulances screamed louder than I.

Silent night,

Holy night.

I remember holding your hand so tightly that I knew how it was possible for Jesus to sweat blood.

I remember fires, and flames, fires and flames.

I remember wanting only to go and hide and pretend nothing was happening.

Oh, when will they ever learn,

When will they ever learn?

I remember Sunday.

I remember love.

I remember wind.

I remember broken, sad, sad, water fountains.

Oh, Georgie! Why'd you have to kiss the world and make us cry?

The First Day of School

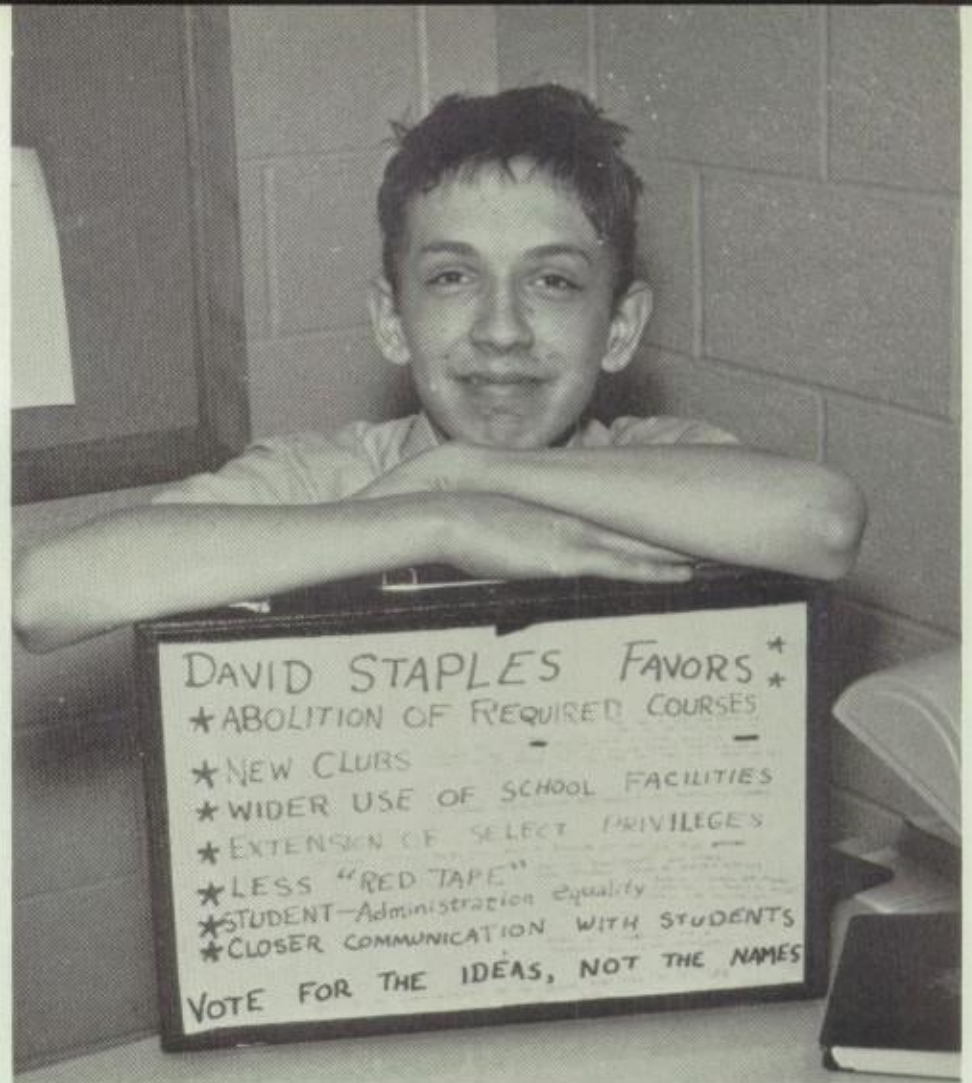

How can I forget? . . . Where did the summer go . . . Early morning classes . . . So tired . . . Assembly in the gym . . . The highlight is the faculty introductions . . . New teachers . . . Mr. Leidal puts restriction on girls dress code . . . Where do I go next . . . 107, 208, or 302? . . . Mrs. Christensen I lost my schedule . . . Millions of Freshmen everywhere . . . Perfect attendance in most classes . . . That'll be the last time . . . When do you eat? . . . On A, B, or C . . . Juniors and Seniors get to leave after all their classes are over . . . What a day.

David Staples won his first step to world conquest with his Stogart Empire. Our President has attacked the commies with his elite Generals Anonymous Corps. Meanwhile Dan Olson asked the students to come home to his realistic views of student government and experience. The fairer sex invaded the harsh interdepths of politics with Women's Lib representative Roxanne Brand carrying the torch of equality and justice for all! The all-hearing Larry Rieniets ran on good looks and a passive view of the responsibilities that come with the job. Red is definitely out in '72 politics.

"I remember Paul Hemm walking back and forth behind the queen candidates." "The bonfire was warm." "Homecoming was great . . . the cheerleaders really tried hard." "It is always the same every year. It needs to be changed a little." "I don't know what I thought of Homecoming." "It was pretty dead." "I think the pep rally was the best one there has been in the three years I have been here." "The players worked harder this year." "The pep rally was great. I didn't know Mr. Clark could jump so high." "There was spirit but not like it used to be." "It didn't seem like Homecoming week to me." "Homecoming was so unreal this year." "I remember losing by only 2 points . . . but wait till next year!"

Prom '72 was . . .

a rainy night and muddy shoes
 buying a new dress
 renting a tux
 red, pink, blue, yellow, and white corsages
 seeing kids dressed up purple candles and daisies
 looking over the balcony
 having shrimp or steak
 almonds in the green beans
 breaking up at Larry and Holly's jokes
 the crazy senior entertainment tape
 no one drinking their tomatoe juice
 the Grand March waltzing or trying to drinking to much punch
 memories, good and bad
 a tradition.

christmas

Comfort, comfort ye my people . . . for unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

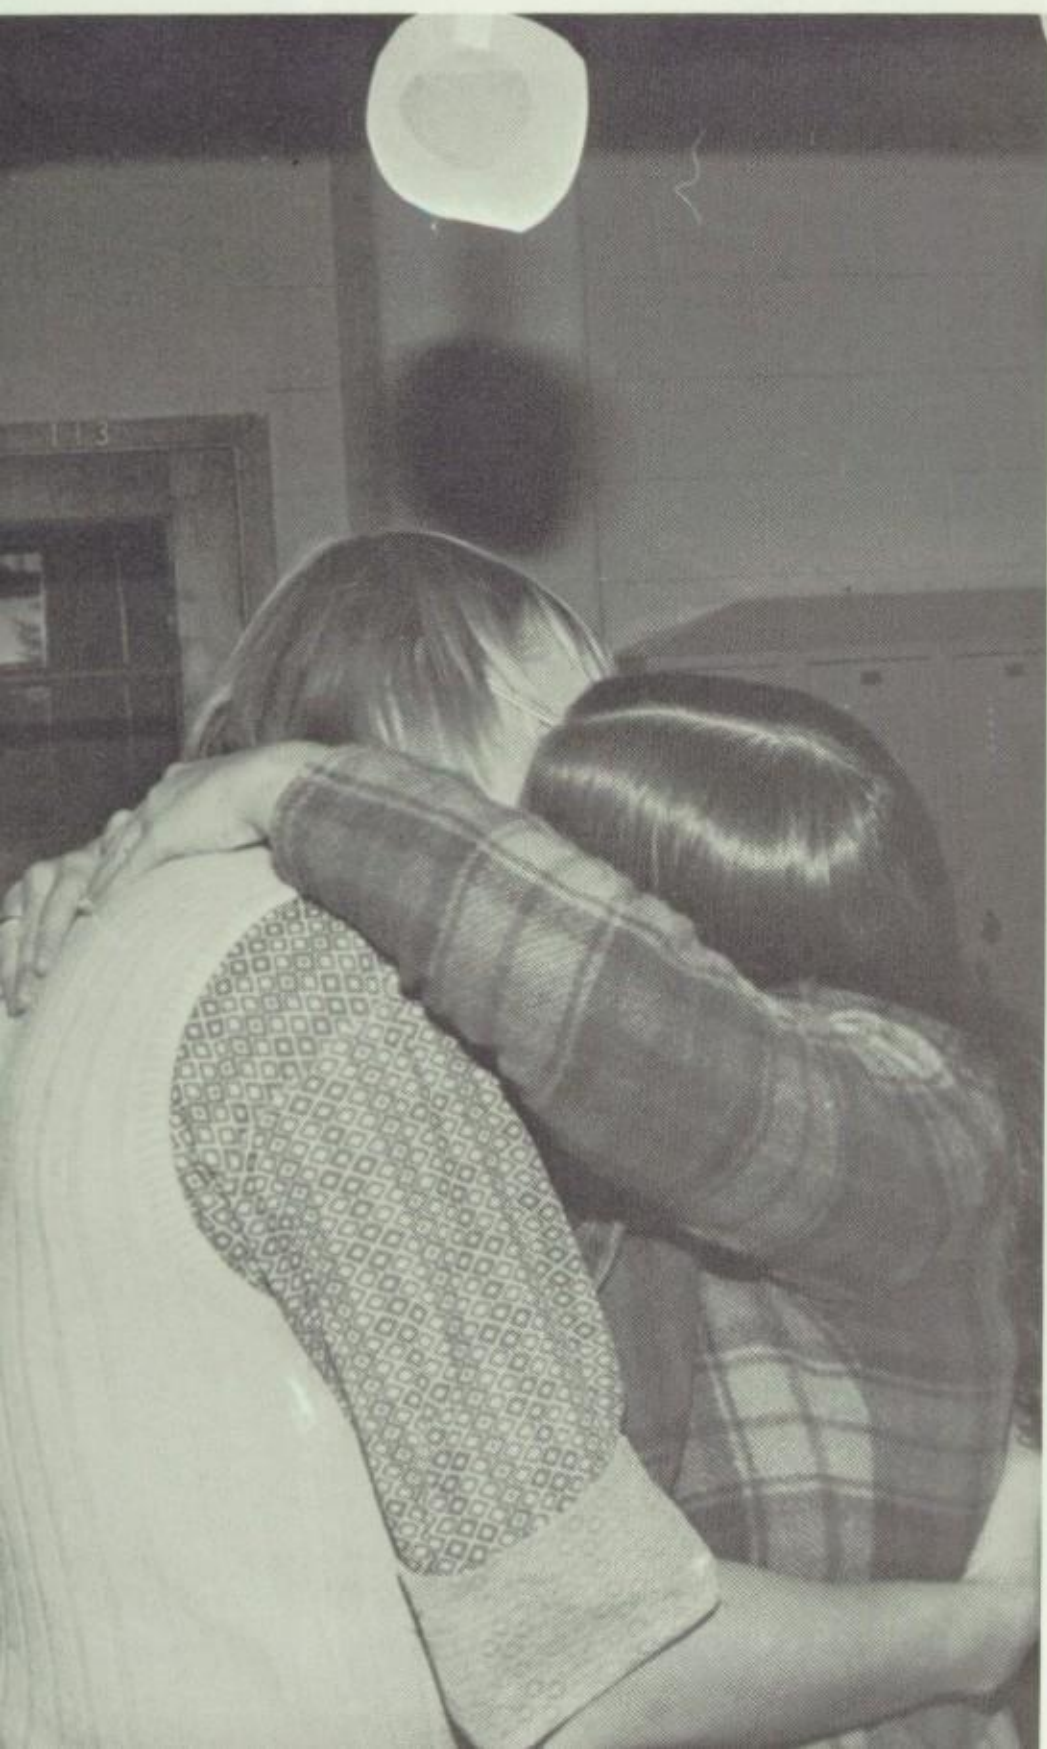

Christmas as we celebrated it is really for children. Children are the only ones still innocent enough to be dazzled by the lights, and awed by the gifts.

I'm finding the real Christmas takes maturity. Real Christmas isn't all presents and Christmas trees and lights. It's not outside; it's within. It can't be given; it's only found. Real Christmas is something to hang unto, all year round.

Christmas--a time of love, a time of peace, of joy, of hope.

Hi! I would like to tell you in some words my happiness of being here and to thank you very simply for sharing with me this great experience.

I have been in West Fargo for only three months, and I am already adapted in my new high school. I have met so many nice and friendly kids, I have been accepted so quickly by you. To tell the truth, the most important step was made when you understood that I was not this strange animal which is called French, a name that boys associate with great drunkards and that girls associate with great lovers! At this point you became conscious of the fact that I was just like you, with the same interests in life, and not just a representative of France, neither this shy and serious guy that you maybe imagined the first time you saw me. Because, I can tell you: I like to hear a good joke, to see a good show, to have fun with others, just like you. Now, I am accepted like I am and that is why I am really myself, thanks to your friendship.

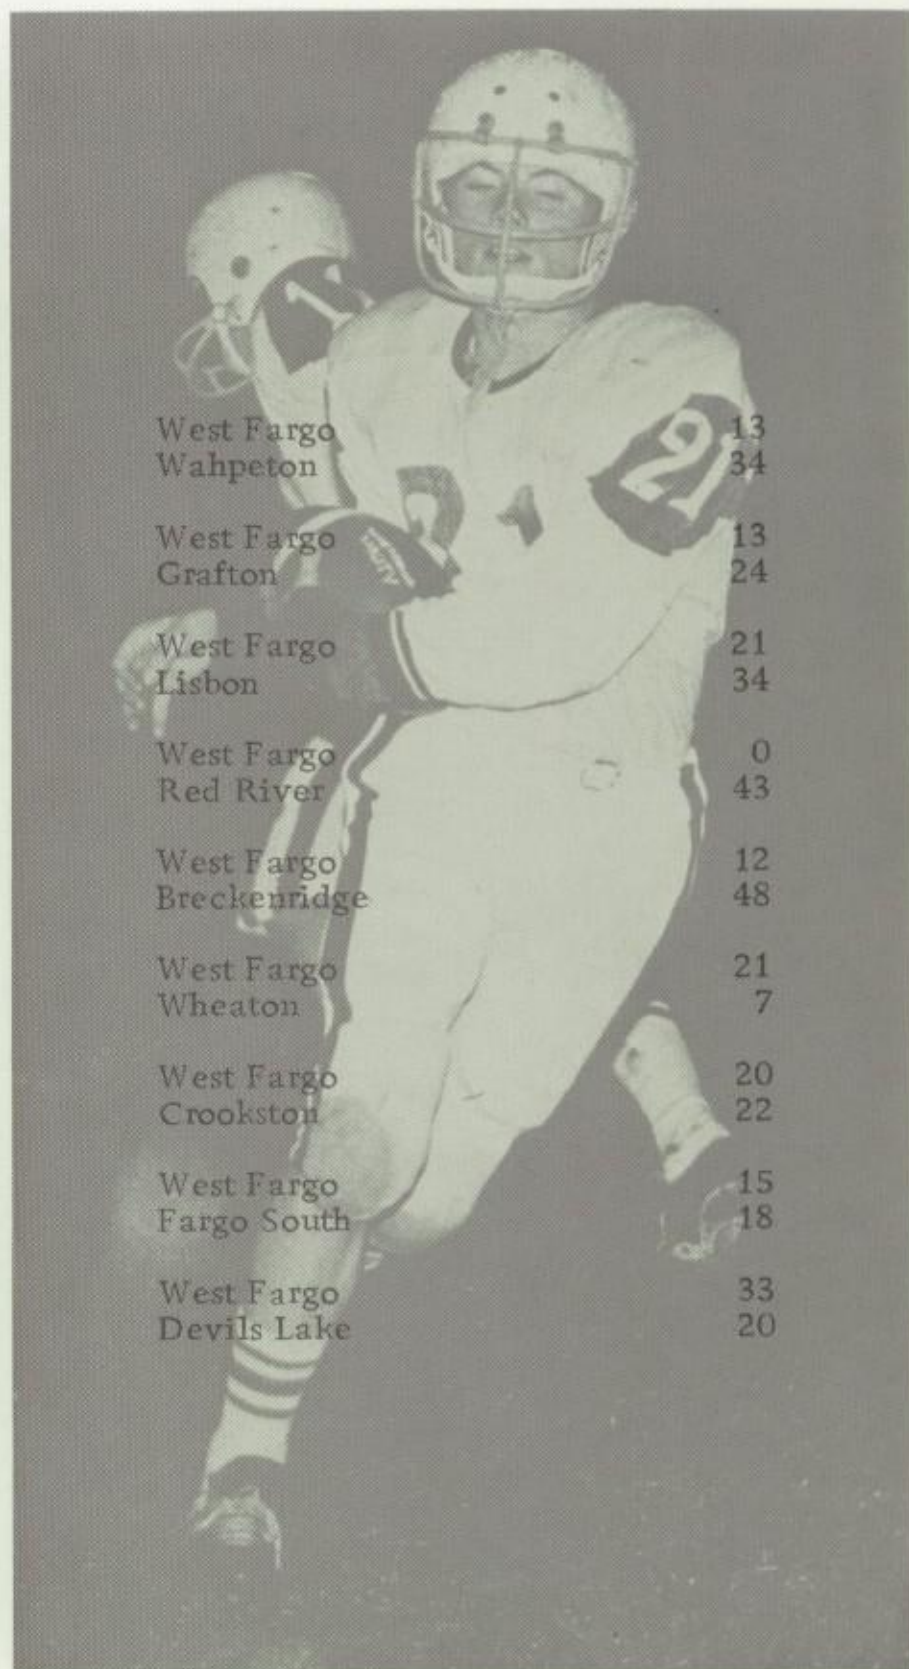

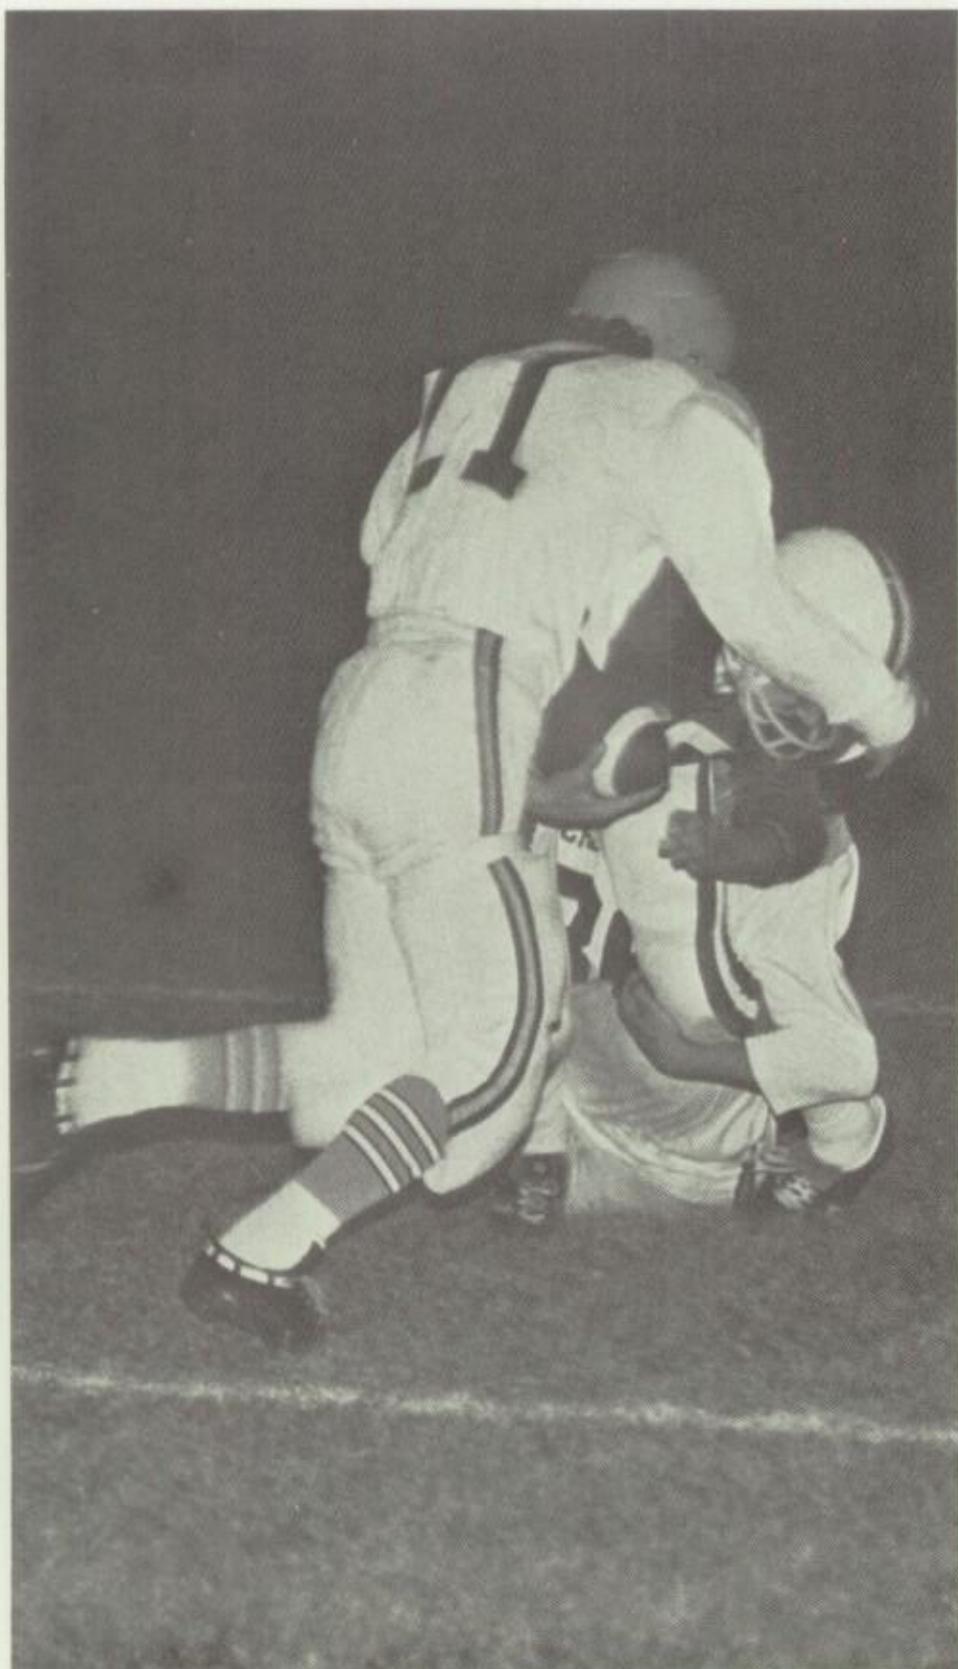

Something that helped me a lot to get integrated in the school activities was my participation in extra curricular clubs mainly in sports. My first experience with American sports was football, and I can tell you that was a great one! I managed to understand and become not too bad in that sport that I did not know at all before I came here. That was not without pain and sweat; but also, there was this wonderful team spirit experienced in victories and even more, in defeats. I think that we had a really good team, even if the results did not always prove it. But I shall never forget the spirit of the games in which I several times played, what was a great honor. Now the season is over and we have to look forward for more victories. But now also, other sports are beginning, like wrestling that I enjoy too, and more; and, other club activities are open for me which I do not want to miss either . . .

It is time now to conclude, but I do not have a conclusion. So again, thank you for your welcome; and do not forget: I am just like you, I like to have fun with you, if you want to invite me, meet me and share with me. And, if sometimes you have the occasion, remember that my home is open to you, when you want to come: it is after all only 6,000 miles from West Fargo!

Cross Country

Lack of interest among our student body to participate seem to sum up the 1972 Cross Country Season. There were a total of 9 boys out at one time, however we only had 3 boys finish and complete the season. The team competed in 8 meets during the regular season. Jay Brand and Steve Gunderson also competed in the State Meet at Grand Forks.

FARM

Speak Out

I was asked to write an article for the annual and in thinking about the task I tried to come up with a topic that was timely. I pondered on topics that would express my appreciation to the students of West Fargo for the successful years they have helped me have in the WFHS. I thought about the great staff that I have had the privilege of working with for the past five years.

Then I was wondering, WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

Quiet, stop running in the hall, pick up the paper, you can't eat candy in class or in the hall, you should know that by now, settle down, think a little for a change, do it over, get it done for tomorrow, this is your last chance, quiet down and listen, we respect you and we deserve the same, get your feet off the chair, why are you in the hall? You're assignments are never on time, soust time for you. Students, WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

Are the above negatives to put you down, or are they positives in disguise? Give this some serious thought and I know you will get the correct answer.

How about YOU, are you the gum wrapper dropper, the light switch kicker, the rest room puffer, the table top tracer, filmstrip scratcher, duddy dirty word, science room havoc, typewriter terror, mighty hall marker, the lunchroom launcher. REALLY, WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

Hey, did you say any of the following today: excuse me, thanks, thank you, I'll help, I'm sorry. Did you make an extra effort to please someone (maybe even a teacher). Have you had the guts to admit you were wrong or that you were the cause of a specific incident. (This is tough, huh.) Have you felt bad (deep inside) for something you said to someone, for a fellow student because of an injury, death, hurt feelings or from everyday problems of life. Look around, are you on a status ladder, or are we all equal. WHAT IS IT REALLY ALL ABOUT?

Read the previous paragraphs again, come on now, go back and read them, then you decide, WHAT IS IT REALLY ALL ABOUT?

The students of WFHS, who will be graduating and the ones that will be following, I hope have the right answer to the question asked, what is it all about.

The teachers of West Fargo High have been dedicated to helping you decide what it is all about and we hope you have some idea, and if you do, that is a great reward for the teachers of this school.

Don't forget, we must all (teachers and students) have respect, love and a great deal of feeling for ALL.

Reach Out

As I leave high school, there are a few words I would like to leave with the future leaders of our nation. If these precautions were to be acted upon, I believe we would not need to fear the tyrannies that threaten to enslave us.

Do not be misled by those who SPEAK as you believe, while acting as you oppose.

Do not be conned into thinking that peace can be achieved with our sworn enemies, for to them peace means the end of the resistance.

Depend upon the government for as little as possible, or you can not claim independence.

Do not blindly follow any leader to hell.

Remember, the lesser of two evils is still evil, look for a third choice.

It is better to support "losers" who are right, than "winners" who are wrong.

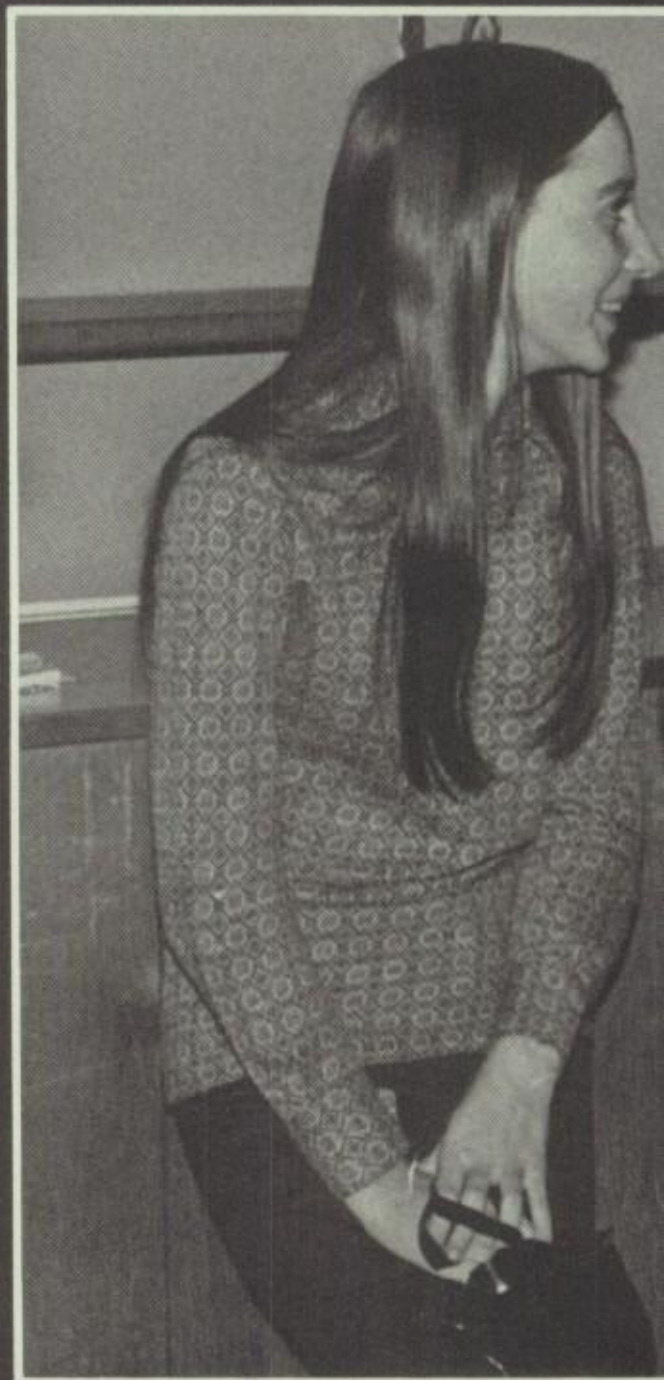

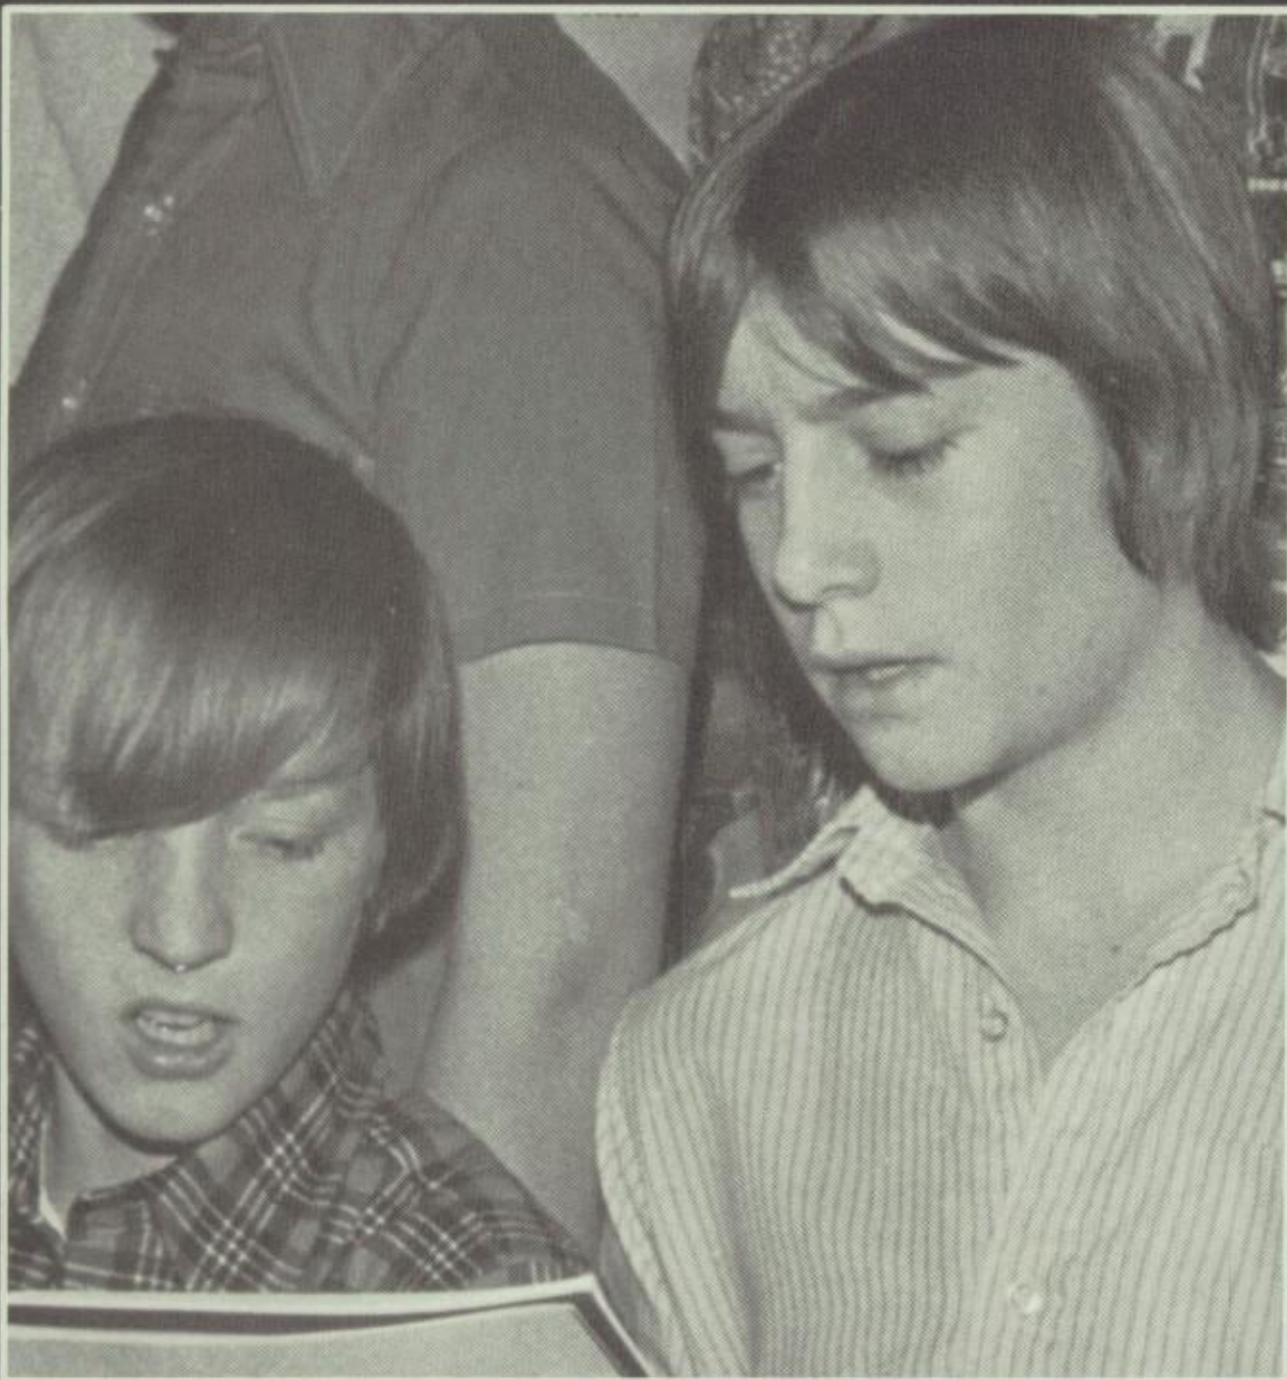

Do not be afraid to stand up for what is right, even it is considered outdated, for right does not change.

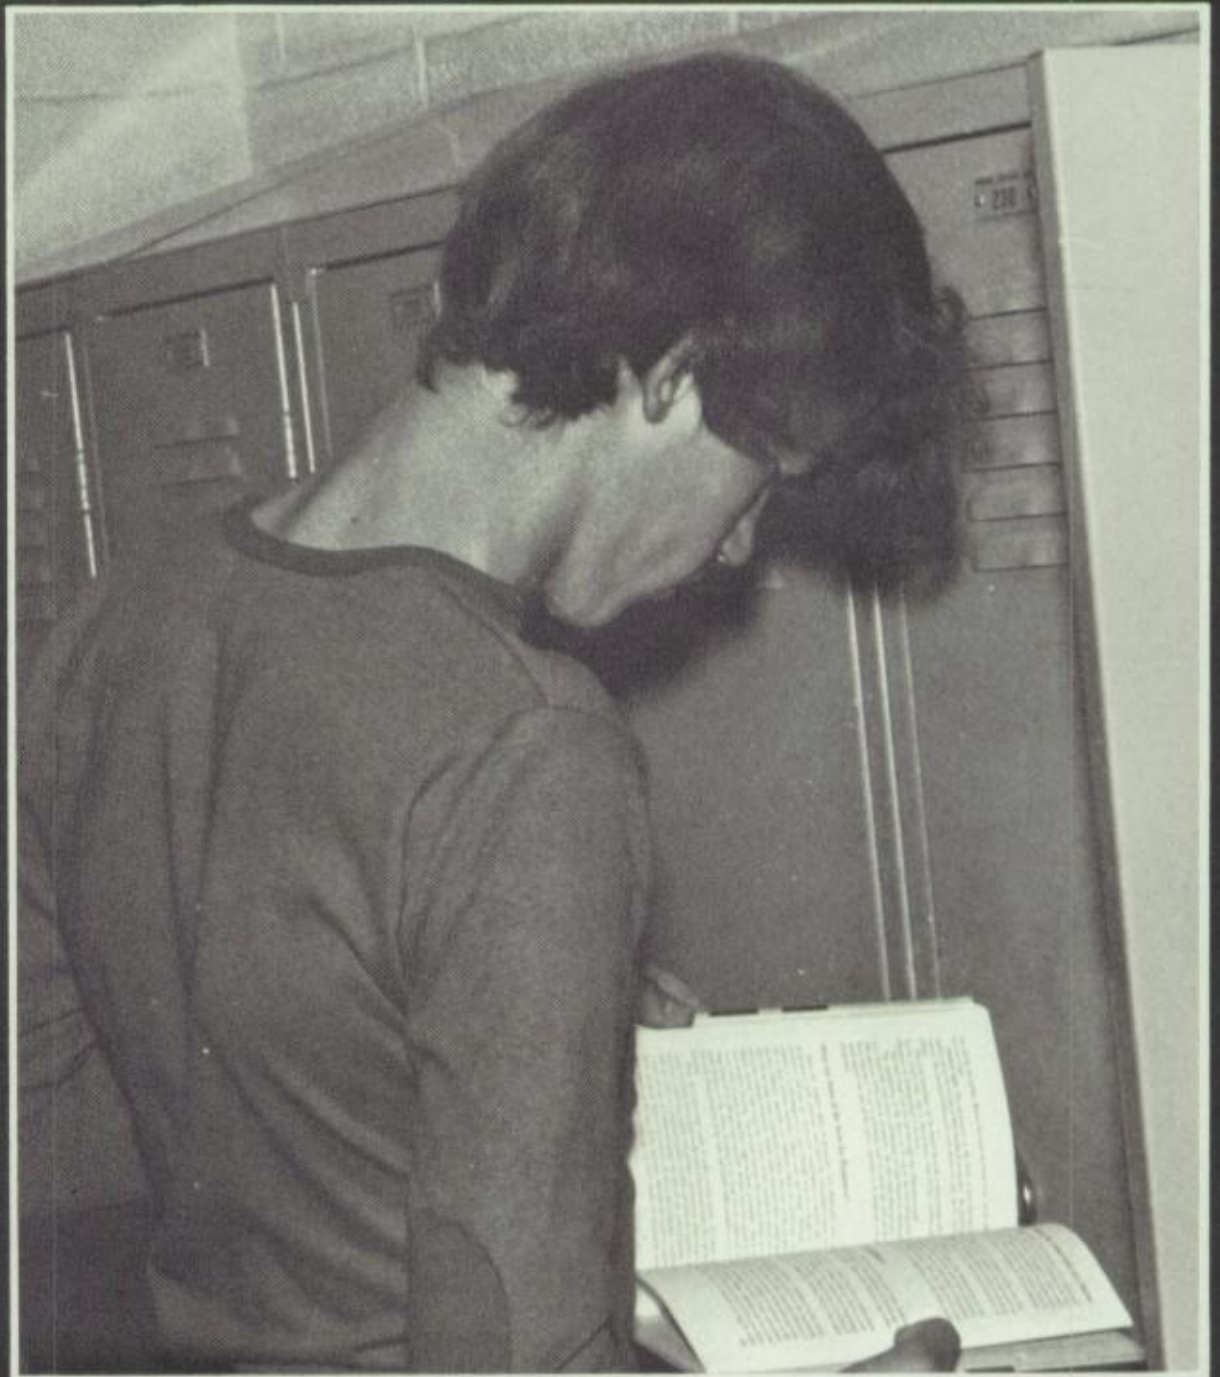

Do not give up, apathy never solved anything, you've little to lose by trying.

Do not take the printed word as fact, even if it pretends to be such, for such words may be controlled.
